

Co-Leader & Volunteer Training At-a-Glance

At Girl Scouts-NC Coastal Pines, we strive to develop each of our volunteers and believe in the ongoing value of training and support. As a Girl Scout volunteer your journey may have just begun, or you may be well on your way. Whichever road you're on, we're here to guide and support you. Who's we? Your Girl Scout family. From your membership director to your program director; your service unit team to your volunteer experience team, you are not in this alone. We're in this with you, and we're here to make your experience meaningful, rewarding, and fun. It's true, there's a lot to learn when you become a Girl Scout volunteer, but once you have your trainings behind you, you'll be ready to go and ready to be the role model she'll always remember!

How are the Trainings and Enrichments Delivered?

Our trainings and enrichments are delivered in a variety of ways to best meet the needs and learning styles of our volunteers. Here's a glance at the many different training delivery methods we use.

In-Person, or as we say, LIVE!	Individual or small-group sessions led by council staff or trained and approved volunteer facilitators at scheduled times; pre-registration required.
Via Webinar	Topic-driven, informational sessions led by council staff at scheduled times.
Online	Self-paced, online modules available via our website to fit your schedule.
Blended	Training that requires the completion of an online module and an in-person session led by council staff or trained and approved volunteer facilitators. Participants are required to complete online portions before attending the in-person session.
To locate Online Modules	To find our online modules, visit our website at, www.nccoastalpin.es.org and navigate to: Volunteers/Volunteer Learning and Support. Under the Volunteer Learning and Support page, select either Troop Co-Leader, Service Unit Teams, Safety and First Aid, or Camp and Outdoors, depending on the module you wish to take.
To Register for a LIVE! Session	To register for a LIVE! training, visit Activities on the council website or login to MyGS to find more information and upcoming sessions.

Co-Leader & Volunteer Training Progression

When volunteers begin their Girl Scout journey they begin with Volunteer Essentials but what happens next depends on their role and interests. In other words, every volunteer is different so your needs and your quest for Girl Scout knowledge will be different too. Troop co-leaders for example, will continue on to New Co-Leader Orientation and then may choose to add in grade-level trainings, webinars, and enrichments. As time goes by, and the needs of our troops grow, co-leaders often find themselves looking for even more trainings. For example, you may attend Leaderee to network with other leaders and gain ideas or maybe you have a Junior troop and you're ready to learn more about the Bronze Award process. Of course, depending on your troop's plans, you may find it necessary to complete one of our certification courses. For example, if your troop wants to venture outside your normal meeting place or the girls are ready for their first camping trip, a first aid/CPR certified adult or outdoor certified adult may be required so it's time to add in one of those courses. Keep in mind that the roles of troop first aider or outdoor certified adult do not have to be filled by a troop co-leader, in fact, those roles are wonderful opportunities for parents and families!

¹Required for all co-leaders before the first troop meeting and for anyone beginning the Outdoor Certification Progression series. ²All co-leaders are asked to complete NCO within 45 days of troop start-up. A council-sponsored "Fast Track" is an all-in-one training that includes New Co-Leader Orientation as well as an introduction to the Volunteer Toolkit. ³Required to venture outside your normal meeting place and certain other activities requiring a troop first-aider (see Safety Activity Checkpoints).
